

BLOG POST: DEAR MAMA

DEAR MA,

I Love You... NOT only Today on Mother's Day, but everyday of my 27 years of worthless pitiful life. My love grows stronger as you continue to support me, Even though I am not worthy of your support and have not been worthy of your love and support for many years. That's the Essence of a Mother, Doing things when you don't have to do. It would have been easy for you to throw in the towel a long time ago. I know I wasn't the best child to raise, Nor was ^I the ideal child that Mother's wish for. I appreciate how you raised me, because you tried time after time to make me see that I didn't know anything. I want to say that I am so very sorry for not being more productive in my life. I am not the son you can be proud of. I am not the child you should be proud of. I let you down, Took everything you ever told me for granted when as I see it now, everything you said turned out to be true. I thank you for taking care of me, Sitting up with me when I was sick. Helping me out when I was hurt. There is no woman that I would rather have as my mother. I just wish I would have done more to accommodate you for being a wonderful mother. You deserve more than I have given you, More than I could have ever given you.

The Bible Says that the best way to repay your mother for her hard work is by Never Causing her pain.

I have caused too much pain, So I guess I failed in that department also. But yet you still love me the same way you did when you held me in your arms for the first time.

Even when I was wrong you stood by my side. I love you Ma, words can't express how I feel right now writing you.

I thank the Lord every day that you had me, because all of the good times outweigh the bad times. If I could press rewind and turn back the hands of time, knowing what I know now, I would give you a different son other than myself.

Everyday I am grateful for you, not just on Mother's Day.
But today, I want to say Thank you, For all the extra love that you gave me. I hope you like the Mother's Day Card.

Ma, You will always be my Black Queen...

You Are Appreciated...

Happy Mother's Day

Love You Always,
Qua
