

(Under Ground Regulations in CDC)

Prison Guards use food as a tool in Ad Seg to get inmates to work which they are not allowed to do. Extra Trays are always given to General Population inmates that are housed with in the same Building as protective Custody inmates. These inmates are treated better because they (Cops) think these inmates are better due to their business dealings with Cell Phones and dope. A trust is built between General Population inmates and staff. Cops can easily identify main line inmates because there is a Blue sticker above their door and S/M inmates have Pink stickers. And if you have a Pink sticker you have nothing coming from them.
