

Phone justice

Due to the high prices of phone calls (my family must pay $6.15 per 15 minutes call) I can only talk to my family once a month. Between calls I worry about my family. It is hard not communicating with my family as much as I'd like, not being able to hear their voices and know they are safe. I wish I could call more often but my family has a very tight budget and can't always accept my calls.

When I hear my family's voices it comforts me knowing they're safe and still care.
