they were not welcome and must exit from the Arcade.

While advising my dad to calm down as I would ask or remove the individuals from the Arcade, the mole (Attorn) nearest the arcade's entrance begin pulling a weapon (sawed-off-shotgun) from his waistband whereupon I engaged him physically struggling to prevent his deadly endeavor when the weapon discharged into the underarm-pit of his left arm and shoulder area of his body.

Following the gun-discharge and struggle, he stepped out of the Arcade onto the sidewalk and into the market running through and out of the rear door thereof onto a parking lot and then running across Imperial Hwy., into the Housing Project wherein he collapsed but remained conscious and alive until taken by the Los Angeles City Fire Dept., Medics, to the Martin L. King, Jr., Hospital whereby following the surgical stabilization of his self-inflicted wound; but because of a highly questionable medical procedure, he succumbed.

As a climax of this incident and because of my dad stepping forward to intervene and prevent the gangs' daily street terror and for permitting the Los Angeles Police Dept., to make filmage possible, numerous gang members and their affiliated road thugs begin grouping on the north-side of Imperial Hwy., voicing threats of deadly violence . . . vowing that they would kill and burn out my parents' home and businesses and make an example of us Hawkins'.

Under the concealment of the 11 September 1983 nightfall, the thugs began shooting live gunfire and throwing gas-bombs toward my parents' home and business interests. Bullets striking or ricocheting off of the store/arcade and vehicles parked about the premises. Several
