

Hey there! Thanks for your support on writing. Thankfully, I have now been approved for email so I can send quicker postings about regular stuff. Although...it's also somewhat less private as you know so there are some things I'm concerned about putting on here.

I'm curious...are you a regular computer browser or are you someone affiliated with Between the Bars who's encouraging me to keep writing? I've only gotten 2 comments so far (although I'll admit there's not much to comment on), yet I wonder if the people who've commented are working with BTB. Please don't be offended by my questioning this.

Many blessings to you.

kelly