

I am so full of joy, grateful, and excited about this brand new day! In this glorious moment, there is peace, and all is well. What matters most is that I am here and my Creator is with me.

I imagine, knowing this to be a day filled with Light, Love, and laughter. I expect to be guided by the still, small voice and directed on my path. My understanding increases, and I am blessed with new wisdom.

This is a brand new day! I seek expansion of my experiences so that I am attracting golden opportunities and magical moments. I am open, receptive, embracing and loving all that is.

I allow the force of Love to bless others through me. I reflect and shine my light so that some one else may find their way. I pray-attention and stay aware of the magnificence and beauty that surround me. Every vibration of this moment is magnified, and I am grateful for another amazing opportunity-day! I am an African Classic-X-Ray

Behold, now is the accepted time...
Corinthians 6:2