

* * * * J U S T A M A N * * * *

If I had the wings of an eagle,
I would fly, right here, from the middle.

If I had the wisdom of the ant,
I would gather me, much friends in the land.

If I had the strength of the ox,
I would carry all my burden like a matchbox.

If I had the fins of a big fish,
I would swim the length of the vast seven seas.

If I had the regal power of a lion,
I would indeed, over my subjects exert dominion.

If I had the the heart of a sweet lamb,
I would keep you, warm and cozy firsthand.

If I had the patience of the "Ass",
I would, because of you, call myself blessed.

If I had the affection of a pure dove,
Like two love-birds, we shall delight in love.

If I was a violet, or a rose,
I would be right under your nose.

If I had the longevity of a tree,
I would, with you, live in eternity.

But you see that I am a man imprisoned;
And I live in my own world, and lonesome!

Written by C. Maxy, WCI, Waupun WI. 2/23/2012.