How you doin out there? I'm sure you heard in the news about the shooting in Colorado. It's been on my mind a lot since it happened so I just been reaching out to those who've commented on my blog to talk about it, amongst other things.

How are those around you taking the wa news about the shooting? You know what's sad? ... Guys around here have been joking about the incident and just being completely heartless in terms of the severity of it. I'm in no position to point out their rudeness because it can cause drama but it's heartbreaking to hear.

I figured I'd reach out to some people with a conscious and empathy to get feedback from. Take care out there and be it you or someone who might read this please let me know the thoughts of all those out there concerning the shooting in Colorado.
