

I received your response to my blog on Amc 2012. I do thank you for your kind words. My life has been entangled in this madness for a majority of my existence. I am not perfect, but I have transformed into a new man. My captors have refused to acknowledge my change. So they keep me in isolation so that they can say that's the (bad Guy). Outside support & contact with good people has helped me maintain through it all. Your words express that you're a friend that I can learn from. My work for change on behalf of myself, and others is a indication that I AM bigger than my mistakes. Send me your contact information so we can begin to network. I would like to assist your organization. Be Strong.

Peace & Blessings!
