Hello Jessica,

It is my hope and prayer that this response to you comment on my blog finds you well and enjoying all this life has to offer. As for myself, it is well with my soul, just like the song says. :)

I just received the comment you had left a few days ago. Those who so kindly take care of this blog are overworked and it takes a bit of time for me to get the comments. That being said, please know that just hearing that I am being read means a great deal to me. Sometimes it is hard, feeling so cut off from the world.

You had asked about the time I have already served. I will be working on year 10 as of this week. Another five years and I will have served half of my time.

Jacksonville Florida? I have never known anyone from that state but have heard it is nice. If you ever need an ear, please feel free to write to me directly at the address listed on my profile page, it would make for quicker turn around time. ;) Take good care of yourself, and remember "It is the bad days that make the good days good!" God bless you now and always.

In His Grip,
