

Hey Allie,

Thank you for following my blog and I hope that you will continue to do so? "You'd better!!!!!" (: But seriously, it means alot to me, to know, that you enjoy my writings. Also, that you care about prison issues, "most people don't"-and they should. Because most prisoners will be released back into society, and it is not only how prisoners are treated while they are incarcerated, but more importantly how they are embraced back into society. That is even more crucial to having a successful rehabilitation, and becoming a successful member of society.

Again, thanks for following my blogsite, and even more so get your friends interested in Between the Bars. The more people that care, the more productive and positive "WE" become.

Sincerely,

Teze
