

To My Readers;

It's Friday July 20th 2012 at 10:23pm and for the last twenty or so minutes I've been watching a documentary called Nerdcore on PBS and it's opened my eyes to a whole new genre of music and way of life - I love most video games & rap music, but I was never into comic books, or games such as dungeons & dragons, but while watching the documentary I was exposed to individuals who have put their hearts into lyrics to represent what they love, and I have a high level of respect for the lyricism that they displayed. To be honest some of my favorite rappers couldn't match these people lyrically. I only know what I saw on the documentary, but it was enough to spark my interest, and hopefully someone out there can give me some information on what comiccon is & what it's about, Nerdcore/Geeksta rap ~ that whole movement in general and how big the movement is. The PBS documentary gave insight to one area's venture into the movement, but I want to know if it's a world wide movement, whose involved, why ~ Basically I want anyone who is or knows someone that is into this genre or lifestyle to let me know what's up. I would also like to offer my site as a forum to discuss Nerdcore, Geeksta rap, comiccon, or just the lifestyle and what it means to you. Oh! before I close feel free to contact me personally... I love making new friends.

In hopes of reaching a new level... Thanks 4 reading

To My Readers;

It's Sunday July 22nd 2012 at 8:30pm and I just got off of the phone with a close friend who just returned from spring break; while he told me about all of the wild things I missed I began to wonder if anyone else did the spring break thing. I know that the summer is usually time to party, especially for college students; even though I've only had one chance to experience the fun of spring break I know the hot spots are Miami, California, Texas, Atlanta, and New Mexico ~ What I want to know from all of you out there is; what did you do on your spring break? I'm looking for anyone who is willing to share their story and/or pictures, mind you the pictures ~~can't~~ be nude or vulgar... But if you're willing to share feel free to do so. If you decided to skip out on the spring break ruckus tell me what you chose to do instead; there are so many fun things that I'm missing out on due to my incarceration, that I'm just reaching out to my readers, so that I can live through all of you for a few seconds... In every posting I ask you to share a part of yourselves, because I share a part of me. Feel free to contact me personally ~ I love making new friends.

In hopes of experiencing fun through $\frac{1}{3}$ with you...
Thanks 4 reading.

TO My readers;

It's Tuesday July 24th 2012 and I've just finished reading an article in "Hot bike," Magazine, The article is titled "party time" and it was talking about an event called the Sturgis rally - In the article they said that every August hundreds of thousands of bikers go to the Sturgis Motorcycle rally in Sturgis South Dakota. I'll be totally honest, before I read the article I had never heard of Sturgis South Dakota or the Motorcycle rally, so I'm trying to learn as much as I can about it - I mean are their rules, personal does and don'ts, Do you have to be invited, How long does it last, etc; I've been doing my best to step out of my comfort zone and learn about things I've never done, so I'd like to hear from anyone whose been their or knows someone who has been their... I want to share your experiences, good or bad... If you took pictures then please download them to my site ~ Make sure that they're not nudes or vulgar. If you wish to contact me then do so at:
