Hello out there "Beyond the Wire!"

They say time is a precious commodity - In which case I must be a very wealthy man - Because the state has certainly given me a lot of it.

I spent a part of the fortune (some of that time) putting together a few poems that I want to share ... o.k. - maybe I got a bit carried away ... I lost count at 70 poems (They say a poet has a great imagination - imagining that people want to read his poems)

The "batch" I put together was from a series that I call Snap Shots of Grace: Experiencing God from behind the wire.

I'll put them in the mail tomorrow (Gotta get some stamps) In the meantime - I had some fun with words: putting together a spoof of Robinson Crusoe / Sleeping Beauty and a Friday Night

I ALSO INCLUDED A POEM
