

Ronald W. Clark Jr.
August 16, 2012.

"LOVE"

Page 1 of 1

"you know what I need?" I need a good woman in my life, I need me a wife to love and to share with. a woman to keep my mind occupied and to keep my ass out of trouble. A woman that I can love and cherish one who I can write and share dreams, views, ideas and thoughts. one who will visit me weekly and allow me to hold her in my arms, feel her heart beat next to mine as I intimately kiss her, and we get lost in each other's arms and forget about our surroundings. I've been in need of this womanly love for quite some time. And nothing can heal a man's heart like the love of a woman. yes a good, strong, mentally tough, loving, caring, kind, compassionate, intelligent woman is what I need in my life.

yes I've been giving all of this a great deal of thought. For in the past I've pushed women out of my life, to protect them, to protect me. I'm not going to do it any longer. I'm going to reach out and find love, or at least, I hope so. Cause I'm tired of being lonely and occupying my mind with destructive behavior, such as battling the prison Admin. I need to change. I need to change a lot in my life, and I hope that special woman will enter my life and assist me in turning my life around, and giving me something positive (her love) to focus on. yes I need a woman to love and be loved by. And hopefully she's out there somewhere, and will soon fall into my arms. A tender embrace a loving kiss and a new hope.

In Peace & Love

Bonnie
Ronald W. Clark Jr.
August 16, 2012