

Politics

Well here is the thing we have to come to terms with, all politicians no matter what party they run under, work for the same group and it's not us. They all work for the rich and all of their heart felt speeches and pretty promises are just the wool they use to pull over our eyes. How can anyone trust someone who spends millions of dollars to win a job that pays less than a 1/2 a million a year. That is not to mention that everything that goes wrong is your fault. The only thing they compete with each other about is who can sell out quickest or who can accept the largest bribe. Before you vote for any of these jackals, take the time to look into their past, you might be surprised. Take care of yourselves. PEACE ☺ DONNY
