

MEET The New Boss...

10/2/12

Not the same as the old boss! A strange and WONDERFUL event has occurred. The sadistic-pig-piece of shit CSCI cook who I will indict, convict, and destroy the credibility of in a future blog is gone to a different job and my old CSCI cook boss is back! OH GLORY BE TO GOD!

My old boss was pushed out of his job to a lower position due to the closure of another prison & integration of senior/tenured staff. Thank you, Jesus!

My 'new' boss is one I had the wonderful chance to work with a few years back. He is fair, fun, human and he does not take any shit from anyone. No Drama, no rats, no games. He is a straight-shooter and definitely 'old school'!

I admit he is a bit quirky at times - he likes padlocks and is big on inventory control but he also will act on any need, big or small, without fanfare... He is a Git-R-Done kind of guy.

I would like to name him for positive recognition but he asked me not to. So I'll just say he's a big, lovable black fuzzi-ball who is a credit to DER STATE and more people here could act like him and I guarantee you'd see changes for the good in a lot of men both behind the badge and under the lock.

Happy Halloween!!

~ Happy Thoughts -

-Andy