

Hello Ms. Nicki,

I hope that life is treating you well. As for me, I am well as to be expected. Thank you for taking the time to respond to my question. Your feelings, thoughts and concerns really intrigued me. It's amazing even from A far your words have the power to touch a lonely man's heart. So I thought you deserved a personalized reply.

I totally agree with your point of view, we as a people should never give up on each other. I think it would make the world a much better place. Please know I never intended to suggest that I lived in a vacuum or play readers as ignorant. I simply wanted to give a little of myself to (you) the reader. You couldn't be more right we all do come from somewhere and are all a product of all our life experiences. People think things are always easier when it's black and white, but life is grey and I refuse to let the horrendous mistakes I made define me, because I am to focus on righting my wrongs to be losing and hopeless. Again, your right my story did begin long before that. I ask for no sympathy, Even though I did have a rough start to life being raised in the street life by a mother that was addicted to it. Coming into manhood it was all I knew. Don't get me wrong I appreciate my mother for all of the life lessons she tried to teach me while raising a boy into a man. I've been through mad different phases to find my way, thinking I was ready for the world, or at least I thought I was. I was put into situations forcing me to be a man when I was just learning to stand without a helping hand. As I live and learn and grew into the man before you I realize that life is bigger than today and my problems. So as I open my heart and mind to life's possibilities, I began to see the world and others in a whole new light.

I really enjoyed your useless fact I think it is truly amazing that there's a live replica of the history of Pandora's Box in your local museum. I watch this show called BlobTrackers and they have talked about y'all great barrier reef, I think it is really beautiful!

Well I don't want to bore you, but can I ask what made you come to the heart felt answer you gave to my question? If you would like to respond write me, if not I encourage you to see my next installment.

TAKE CARE

Anthony
