

SAH, how nice of you to be facetious and sarcastic. Don't worry I've withstood insults far more vicious than even you are capable of hurling. I forgive you.

But you do ask two good questions even if they were maliciously asked. It may surprise you to know my crime has no victims unless you count George W. Bush whom I allegedly "threatened" a victim. When I was free I volunteered for a time with the Salvation Army distributing food to the poor, and the Red Cross. In prison I have tutored hundreds of inmates as a volunteer and helped write the brief to obtain DNA testing for a man who was actually innocent but had been locked up 22 years.

What should YOU do to better our world? Volunteer to help the poor. Mentor a disadvantaged child. Feed the hungry. Donate to causes that help sick children. In another post you revealed your a crime victim so why not reach out to help console rape victims, parents of murdered children, etc. You don't help anyone, yourself included, sitting on the internet tossing derision at someone who never did you wrong and only wishes the best for you. Judge not lest ye be judged. Think about it.
