Love You Always ♡

Ryde Van Esber

Skies are gloomy, no sunshine in my sight, vision stays blurry because I cry during lonely nights, body wrecked with pain, feeling it deep in my bones, your love goes all the way down, and won't leave me alone Having sickness every day, waking up with migranes, love is like Tylenol, helping to relieve my pain, your love is captivating, like dolphins jumping out the sea, your love can work miracles, just please marry me, I'm pretty sure I'll feel better, once I take your hand, I'll be able to walk, finally being able to stand.
Being in your presence, will make my life complete, without you near, my heart beat is very weak, Gasping for breath, and it's hard for me to breathe, because you are all I want, and everything I need.
your love is like a hallmark card, you show you care, and in the time of need, I know you're there Time to take that extra step, go that extra mile, make your family cry, and making you smile.
only time I see sunshine, is only when we talk, only being content in my dreams holding hands when we walk. once I wake up, my heart, goes back into a depressed state but it will come to an end and I really can't wait I wanna love you, and you love you the right way. it's the only way I know, and I'll love you always.
