

Reply ID: 2h24

Kyleproehl

10/9/12

Thank you for transcribing my writing for me, and sending your heartfelt wishes for us. By now you may have heard that Terrance Williams was granted a stay of execution; the DA appealed but the court denied their appeal. So now, terrance can move forward and petition the court for a new penalty hearing requesting a Life sentence (which he should've received in the first place, based on the evidence the prosecutor, Andrea Foulker, hid.). Terrance is still on Phase II until his paperwork comes through (as of this writing), but he should be back with us soon. The prisoners & staff (some anyway) are very relieved that he was given another chance to be properly judged.

Daniel Gwynn

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "Daniel Gwynn", written in black ink.

2012-10-09 10:11:11 AM