I often hear "money isnt everything," or "money cant buy you love". Although I agree with both statements I also know that even though money isnt everything its nessasary to have it to live and function is our society...money cant buy you love but having money reduces some stresses relationships have given the fact most argue about money and sex.

I think its foolish to believe money will rid you of all your problems. I think its equally foolish to believe you dont need it in this ever growing world that we live in. Your wants and needs might not be much but even still you'll need some money to get the bare nessities.

I don't know about you but I myself am stressed out when a bill is due and im short on cash, I beat myself up if a special day comes up and I cant get someone a gift, and I can think of numerous other circumstances that the lack of money brings minor to major stressors. Money definately lightens the load some times.

Take the time to write me and tell me your views on money, mainly how having it or not having it has impacted you? Take care out there dont let life stress you out too much (Smile)
