

Ronald W. Clark Jr
October 17, 2012

My Finances

Page 1 OF 1

I don't like having to ask people for money, and I don't. I don't like having to rely on others for financial help. I'd rather work for my money and earn the money I need through my art work and poetry. And I've successfully done that in the past. And twice I've gotten Disciplinary Reports (DR) for running a business, by simply selling my art. Back in the 90's I use to Crochet, and I was good! My sweaters sold in here for $50.00 each. But the F.D.O.C. stopped Hobby Craft, and when they returned it several years ago, they didn't put the yarn or Crochet hooks back on the hobby craft list.

Now I can draw, I can paint and get by, I'm not a natural artist. I can do a card that'll take me 6 to 8 hours to do, and there's guys in here that can do that same drawing in 30 minutes.

And the most these cards will go for, is about $2.. so I'm only making like 25¢ an hour. I'm not complaining, it's better than nothing. Which is what the F.D.O.C. wants me to make, Nothing!" And that's total B.S. And for those who say your on death row blah blah blah. Well my co-defendant the damn murderer is on the street earning a good living, doing a well as I'm sitting here waiting to die for a crime he committed! And I don't expect any of you to understand. And especially these cold hearted judgemental types.

Hey that's just the breaks of this stinking ass life. Oh well, it is what it is.

Ronald W. Clark Jr
October 17, 2012