

Ronald W. Clark Jr. "Bad Information" Page 1 of 1
October 16, 2012

People leave comments with bad information, two joints found on my bunk, no - no joints were found on my bunk. And me getting mad pushing Dina out of my life over censorship. No - again bad information. We are still friends, I love her dearly. Most of you people couldn't hold the light for her. That woman is an angel walking among us. But she and I are only friends, and that's all it will ever be. Cause she's married to a terrific man and has two children.

I did not talk my wife into hijacking a helicopter, in fact I tried to talk her out of it. Cause I realized it was a bad idea. By the time I realized it, my wife had right at $5,000 of other people's money, and she didn't want to pay it back. But in all honesty, it was my fault. Cause I should have put my foot down and said, enough! We pay the money back and get out, I don't want to hear any more lies. But as usual I had a bad case of stupidity, and she was just as stupid as I was, and when two stupid asses come together, well nothing good comes of that.

Truly - I should have left her early on. Her and I began writing in June 1997. We visited on Aug. 30, 31 and Sept 1, 1997 for the first time. She was living in Virginia well she wanted to move down here to be with me, I'm lonely. . . . I'm game. She's a woman, I love all women, even you bitchy ones that criticize me all the time. Instead of simply packing her bags and catching a bus down here, she steals the

Ronald W. Clark
October 16, 2012

Page 20F
Bad Information

people's car that she's working for and leaves it at the bus station. on top of that she steals a radio and something else. And she comes down here. we visit on a saturday and sunday in i believe october or november, she's suppose to be here on monday, she doesn't show, i'm sitting in my cell worrying. later that day my Classification Officer shows up and says "she (my future wife) was arrested in the parking lot for grand theft auto. and all of this can be verified!" so she's placed in jail transferred back to Virginia, she's in jail about 30 something days, and she was able to talk the family into dropping the charges. which is the only reason they allowed her back on my visiting list.

But she gets back down here, i found her a place to stay, she has to go back to England to get her visa renewed, while she's over there i'm in the visiting park with a friend, when a guy comes up and tells me she bounced a check at Winn-Dixie.

When my friend leaves i have him call my mom to call her (my future wife) to find out about this check so we can take care of it, before she winds up back in jail. she denies that she bounced a check, she gets back down here, she's in the bathroom, i'm at the sandwich machine, when this guy walks up and asks about the check. i was mad for several reasons one people in my business. i told him she said she hasn't bounced no check and i don't want to hear another f—ing word about it. He took a couple of steps back, and said "i'll send you a copy of the bounced check. i walk over sit at our table, she comes back from the bathroom and sits down, i said, you didn't bounce any checks?"

Ronald W. Clark Jr.
October 16, 2012

Page 2 of 3
Bad Information

she said "No." I said "you sure?" she swears she hasn't, I said, "well I was just confronted by him and he says he's going to send me a copy of the check, I said "so I'm not going to see your signature on there am I?" And she went to studdering, and it was all over her face that she had lied." I started to get up and walk out, and I wish I would have, I just laid my head down on the table until I could gain composure. When I did, I said you don't have to lie to me, you can lie to your mom, my mom or God, but don't ever lie to me. That was a waste of breath. Cause that's all she did was lie.

That story she gave to that moron reporter, and I call the reporter a moron, because she's a reporter who didn't do any investigation, cause she would have easily discovered all of this, as well as her lying to the FBI, she had the FBI running around in circles chasing their tail. And they were pissed!"

Any ways there's too much bad information. I take responsibility, I should have never let her and I get involved in that. The real story has never been told.

I didn't plan that, there was seven death row inmates involved in that escape attempt, my name was the only one given to the media, cause the others had high profile cases and the FDOC knew if those names hit the media, then it would have blown up. Cause it made the world news. I'm hoping to share the whole story on my blog. I've written to the between the bars Administrators to ask about this. I'm waiting for a response.

Ronald W. Clark Jr.
October 16 2012