Things have gotten better with warden Reddish and the rest of those idiots getting transferred after the murder of another inmate. It's just a shame they didn't heed my warning and saved that man from being murdered by criminal correctional officers, I'm lucky they didn't beat me to death. But I didn't care, suicidal or just stupidity... I don't know, they hated the fact that I wouldn't stop blogging even after everything they put me through.

We seem to have a good warden now, warden Diane Andrews, and she's making a lot of changes.

yeah, that hunger strike will be the last one I'll ever do. I've put my body through too much. on top of that, one person can't do it, the only way I'll ever do another one is if there's a lot of other guys doing a strike, then I'll join in, but I won't lead it. I'll just be part of it, but I doubt it'll ever happen. these men don't want to stand up for anything. Their content with what they have. And unless they lose a boat load of privileges then their not going to do anything. It's just like American's, they sit around and bitch about what's wrong, but they don't want to fight and sacrifice to change it.

Had I known the way this was all going to go, I wouldn't have tried to change this crap.

It's still eating at me. Had I got that court order, injunction stopping these people from force feeding me, I'd have went all the way, cause I wanted to die. I get really aggravated with this life and everything about it. This is a rough existence here in this cage, and having to deal with cell P-4102, and the retaliation/criminal activity of Reddish was hell!" I'm just glad it's behind me. I wish I could have stopped them before they killed that guy.

Has the Valdez v. Crosby 450 F.3d 1231 case been posted yet? unless I get comments, I don't know what's been posted.

well I'm going to bring this to a close. I'm fixing to work on another greeting card. I do hope to hear from you through snail mail. please take care of yourself.

Sincerely
Bruce
