

Ronald W. Clark Jr.
October 26, 2012

"Rape"

Page 1 OF 1

Rape... it's God's will. Come on really! How stupid are Republicans? Obviously pretty damn stupid huh. Always trying to push their beliefs ramming them down people's throat.

What's also disturbing is how fake people are, mean what you say, and say what you mean. These people jump ship faster than anything I've ever seen. The Republican's goal is to do away with Roe Vs. Wade, and force women who get pregnant, to have them children, even if it is the child of a "rapist". They want to force women to carry the rapist child and give birth to it.

They will tell people, oh under certain circumstances of rape or incest abortions are appropriate. But their only saying that to soft sell this to the American People, no doubt once they get Roe reversed their true opinions will come out, as we have seen them slip and allow their true views to surface from time to time, and then they will be forcing American women to give birth to the rapist child or the child of incest. Because as we've seen politicians are liars and hide, or try to hide their true beliefs, which is, Rape is the will of God.

Religion and politics are dangerous, it's like throwing gas on the fire. Politics - it's corrupt enough, without religious nuts getting involved trying to use it to push their religious beliefs.

But - it's your world, I just exist in it.

Ronald W. Clark Jr.
October 26, 2012