

Rick,

"zap 64"

19 November '12

Hell yea it's me bro! What a trip! I've often thought of you guys too. Are you still in Colorado? Isn't there a place there called Estes, too? Wow! How many more kidz have you and Tina had? Man, it sure broke my heart when you moved away with her and the baby! How is your Mom doing these days? Is she still in that house we helped her move into? How long did I live there with her before your brother got out and... moved into "my" room? Tell her I said hi! for me, will ya please. What ever happened to your brother, by the way? Did he ever move back up to Crescent City with his toothless fat girl? Hey, but atleast she was "white", huh? Poor guy.

Anyway, yea... after you left, I kinda played hide and seek with Debbie... and I think that I was hiding at your moms while my first kid was growing in his mom Dina. My heart was with Debbie and the kidz though, so I ended getting back with her and making babies (x4?), until I caught this life sentence. She surrendered them all up to adoption soon after and I lost contact with them all, until about a year ago they got at me on this blog site. How did you happen to discover this site, by the way?

You can write me back direct if it's easier 4-u.
Wm. Goehler, #K-77832 P.O. Box 409020, A1-213
~~San~~ Lone, CA 95640.

Or simply reply on this blog site if you prefer.
In either case, write soon! HAPPY HOLIDAYS!