

Page #1

"Thanksgiving"

November 14
- 2012 -

Hello there, I don't comment much on, "Politics," "Current Events,"

I could, I could say how "blessed" I am to live in a country that still has dessert after a meal. Where food, warmth, clean water, health care are still provided to its incarcerated citizens. I would like to say something about the throwaway ideology that has so brutally decimated families in the U.S.A.

I have made many, many ugly mistakes in life, but one of the worst is engaging in behavior that led me away from the one sister who never ever closed her door to me. I would maintain, I would never let go, of - the job, the chance to start again in this life to look after or just be there if needed, by my nieces, nephews, remaining brothers, but most of all, to Rose, by Rose. The guilt is at times, unbearable, what makes or made me so irresponsible? Mostly -

OVER →

Page # 2

i think it was fear. Fear of not being like others, so when a person is young, no, i can't, I don't think people are alike, I think people are a distinct, one of a kind, sort of entity. You see this is how i get?? Sometimes, i close my eyes so i can't say anything about what i can't see. A person who feels so comfortable with another person, so much so that they engage in mutual comfort, 2 grown adults. Especially a major or should i say, a General?? I like P. B. S. I love TODD Rundgren and saw him live, 5 times. I thought D. Bowie is a great lyricist, performing artist, musician. I love jazz music and sang "Song for my father" in Philadelphia at a restaurant called "21" in North Philly. I saw the author/musician/poet, Patti Smith in 1977 in Philly and i cried like a baby, it's hard when one sees everyone, everything, all at once. I read "Le Fleur du mal" by Baudelaire. It was because of Patti, em, so lost and now soon to be dead. A. Rimbaud and Proust, Morrison and Django - King → them bells. B. DYLAN, NAME droppin, Life stoppin, It hurts so much I have to leave it behind and I miss my "Window." My sister Roseanna, I feel I knew her well, I believe I can say that all she ever wanted was a decent man, not an alcoholic or a former drug addict, neo narcissist. But we have to be a whole person, before we connect to another as a whole person. Remember this? "When I live my dreams, you will be there with me riding on a silver horse? On the 25th floor, we do not eat, crown of creation, we do not eat, eat anything at all, love is a verb love is a manifestation, in waitin for contact to come, loves warm, loves cruel, loves cruel, looks pretty cruel tonight. Songs butchered by Randy.

People say in the walking lyrical dictionary. All in all, I only wrote 1 good song in life. It's been raining here on the outskirts of S. F. it's easier to sleep when it's raining. My little room is all ready for Christmas, I have one of those little green envelope size Christmas trees like this ,

when you open it, it's like this I have green and red sparkly cellophane string like decorations on it and little homemade decorations, made from colored candy wrappers, tin-foil. Yep, I have all the Christmas cards I have received over the last 13 years put up on the shelves and window of my cell. It looks like this.

If we have another Life and I see you there, I know I'll be a better man,
because you deserved so much more.
Good bye.
I'm so sorry.

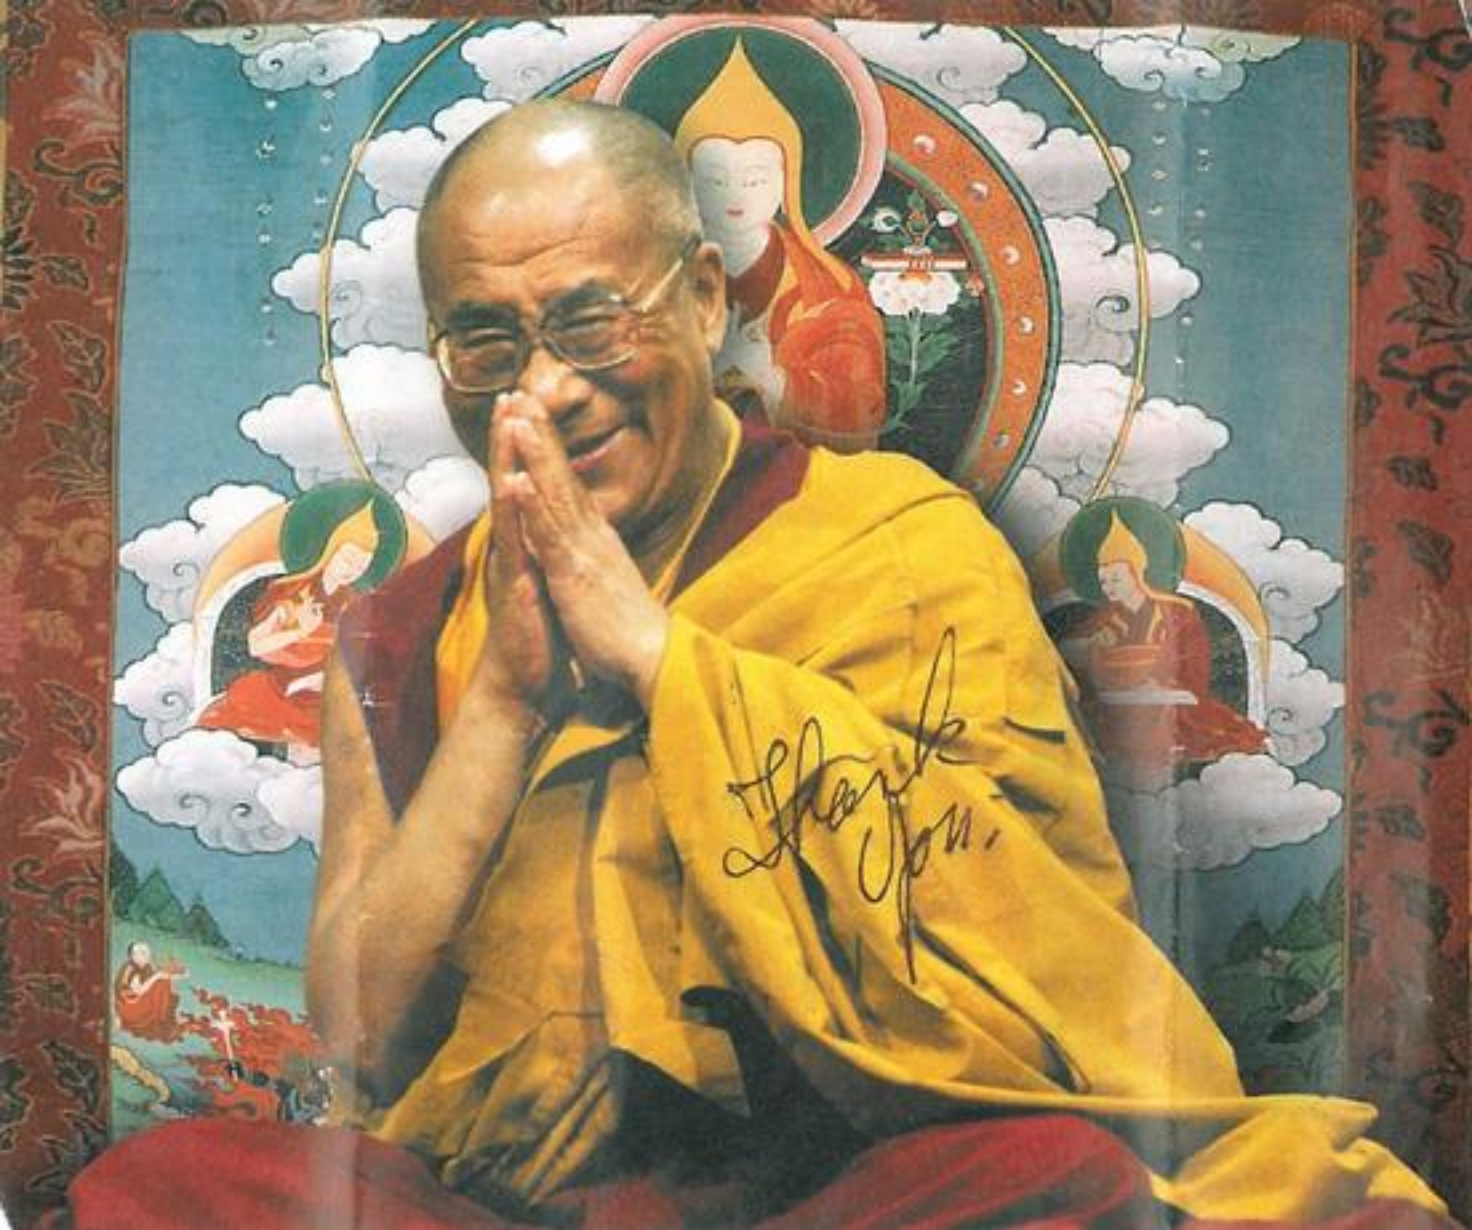

Tibetan Prayer Flags.

I have metastatic Lung Cancer.
The window is another matter entirely.
But at least i can show my tree on my shelf. My door window looks like this.

The candle is pottery
the F-ing

over →
in a little pottery
cup. I know i missed boat. Happy Thanksgiving
Merry Christmas. Randy
Chaplin
2012/2013
Happy New Year.

Thank You.