What's up, Skeletor? Thanks for taking a sec to drop me a line. I really appreciate it. I know the world is spinning fast as hell as mine stands still so I realize that it takes a little effort to communicate with me. That's by design. This blog really helps. Not only do I receive any comments left but I get my responses sent back. I know that's no big deal to most people but I'm not most people and I don't have computer access. To communicate with me, (usually,) it takes getting an envelope or at least a postcard and a stamp and actually mailing it. And that requires having my address. I know that's more effort than most people are willing to exert when it's so much easier to just IM someone else. My Minnesota girl is running my Facebook, but she's got her own life to live so it's not like I ever really get any messages left for me. At least this blog sends me my messages every week or two. Better than anything else I've got going. I hope you know how much I appreciate them. Ya know, I was just telling my cellie (see blog 1346) about when I 1st met you. It was right after I 1st met Ellen@ape, and right after I did my 1st shot of Heroin. I'm sure you remember it. It's when you, John B. of DPW and Chuck B. tried to kill me with hammers! (I'll blog the whole story soon.) Anyway, I just told that war story and got your "comment" the next day. Your comment was "posted" 1 week, 2 days ago" so I guess my ESP is still working. Either that or I smelled you coming! Either way, just know that I really appreciate you reaching out to me, Bro. Hope to hear from you again soon.

Love you. Dog → DECK
