

From the depths of the inferno, I struggle, resist and defy all that the oppressor inflicts to get control of my mind. Finding the balance to move ahead yet find the time to reflect, look back and perfect the path ahead. Hooks can be deceiving, so, one can't judge by the cover. Pain & sorrow seems to cover up the love. Solitude and deprivations is the consequence for my thirst for knowledge. Yet I strive for peace, love, understanding. Even while immersed in hate, hopelessness and frustration.

Life is a struggle and each heart-beat is resistance. Turning our lowest moments inside of the beast into the most constructive times in our life. Belief in true liberation keeps me from losing my sanity.

I believe in a better tomorrow, so I prepare for it today.

Knowledge is the key to overcoming many if not all of the problems that we find in our daily lives.

With paper & pen, my thoughts become the blueprints for my own survival.
Creating art, as well as expressing my truest thoughts.

Unrestrained, unapologetic and raw (uncensored). My life, an open book to the trained eye.

Mr. Daniels

---

