Just another day in paradise.

Today started out really good but it has been difficult to maintain that goodness. I have much to do and it can be a bit of a chore to work around all the distractions that life seems to bring along.

I am to start a new job over in education as a Voluntary Education Tutor. It means I will be earning about 24 cents an hour. It also means I can once again feel useful. I just found out that the job is one of only three that allows an inmate to stay at his present institution as long as he stays in the job. That is a HUGE! perk.

My Mom needs prayer. She is dealing with nasty injustice right now and I ask that you pray for her, for provision, protection, and clarity of thought. Please left her up a whole bunch!

Well, my cellie is coming back in unexpected so I had better stut it down. I look forward to having time in my own office again. :) I do good work over lunches! :)

God bless and keep you all. My prayer is that we all have a profitable new year.

In Jesus Name,
