

Hi Nicki,

I have to begin by saying thanks for your response and I apologize for the delay in mine as yours is dated 11/12/2012 and I received it on 12/8/2012. However, based on what you wrote, this letter will be right on time given your schedule so its all good right ^{aa}.

I have to say thanks for the Dr. Phil information and I leave you some of the info you mentioned to still leave a link to my post outline:

Name: Marcus T. Rogers Jr

DOB: 3/9/1982

Place of Birth: Childrens Hospital / Hollywood California

Address: 100 Corrections Drive, Stanley WI 54768

(Anything else just let me know)

In reference to your other response, I totally understand your views on "Instant Gratification" especially in this day and age. I wrote a post about how we are all lost in the age of modern technology and something as simple as sitting down and writing a letter is actually a foreign concept.

You appear to be something like Wonder Woman (LOL) ... single mum, raising 3 kids, working, studying, finding time to share views and ~~views~~ opinions with bloggers ... do you fix cars too (LOL - J/K ^{aa}). I'm saying all that to say, It appears your hustin' your ham out there to be a good mum, friend, and woman... I hope your proud of that and I totally respect what you represent.

I guess I relate to what you said about life being difficult out there too, in a sense that I try to embrace the difficulties of prison in total acceptance to the fact that at times life just gets difficult and you still gotta do what's right.

In my past when times got hard I'd justify my doing wrong based on the hardships I was facing, now I take joy in sharing them with others while giving and receiving advice to cope through them.

Nicki this has been fun and I'm going to wrap this up. Thanks for your time, advice, and good wishes. I hope your doing O.K. out there and life has given you a reason to experience some joy these days. Merry Christmas and Happy New Years.

Respectfully

Marcus

P.S. Update me on BTB's situation with Free World uploading photos O.K.? Thanks.

Questions:

- 1) What are you studying?
- 2) How old are your kids?
- 3) What do you blog about?