

SAH.

I was unsure if I'd hear from you but I'm so glad to receive a response <sup>AA</sup>. Your reply to my message is dated 11/12/2012 but I just received it 12/8/2012 along with others so I'm responding to everyone now.

I want to say thank you for your compliments in ~~your~~ reference to accepting of my responsibilities for my actions. I've prided myself in being real about who I am, what I've done, what I need to do to correct myself / things in my life, and just genuinely be a good man in this world that we all live in.

I'm extremely sorry to hear about the loss of your daughter and the costs you endured. I'm sure the financial loss pales in ~~comparison~~ comparison to the loss of a child and my heart goes out to you for your experience in its "totality".

I think the fact that you're talking about it and aren't 100% torn apart is a testament to the strength you possess as a mother and woman. It seems I've been fortunate to meet alot of amazing people lately on this blog and it's an honor to have had the chance to experience you and your Strengths.

SAH, I think you're a good spirit as well and your interaction with me has been truly rewarding. I would love to know more about what you experienced in terms of the loss of your daughter but I understand if that's something you don't want to talk about.

However, if it's something you'd like to / need to vent about to a non-judgmental ear... I'd humbly listen to you and love to be that person should you need it. I can't do much for people being in the conditions and circumstances I'm in... I can listen and give advice though and I extend that should you want/need it.

It probably be better to write me directly for that though seeing how it may entail information or details you don't want posted on a blog for everyone to see. Either way, my offer to listen will always stand should you need it.

Your compliments in saying I'm a good spirit have been received graciously and I must say that your spirit is not only good but obviously

Very Strong.

I'm unsure when you'll receive this response but I hope whenever you do that you're in good spirits and comfort has found you. I wish you the best over this holiday season S.A.H and I truly do mean that. If nothing else your strength has been very impressive and you should be proud of that.

Take care S.A.H and always remember that should you need a listening ear... I'd be honored to simply "listen"

Happy Holidays,
