

2:10PM.

Friday

November 30, 2012

Dear Schneehase

Good afternoon, I sent you a Christmas card and letter last night. Then I got all these comments in. I enjoy the comments, and I'd rather our letters focus on our friendship and not the blog, you and I both know that you disagree with most of what I write. We will just agree to disagree.

On the warden, as far as I can see, she's doing a good job. The security is tighter than ever, a lot of the officers are complaining about that. But the officer on inmate assaults have stopped, and there's only been one guy placed in a strip cell and that's Puerto Rican Mike who is a mentally ill inmate who suffers from paranoia. I'm not sure who put him on strip, or why. But other than that, no craziness.

I still don't change my position, females should not work in a male's prison, nor a male in a female prison. It's too easy for an attraction to happen. Females shouldn't be in this prison, but that's my opinion, and my opinion isn't worth squat.

I'm glad things have calmed down, I still don't like everything that took place. And every day I think about Frank Smith who was murdered by staff in September under that sorry a warden Barry V. Reddish and it weighs heavily on my heart. Cause I was fighting to stop the assaults, strip cells and other human rights violations before one of us got killed. Oh well. This is America, land of the sick twisted sadistic people. The people who slaughtered the Native Americans, women and children, for their land. Who enslaved the black man to build this country so why whine about prison guards committing human rights violations, beating and murdering prisoners. yeah - no reason to whine about what takes place inside these prison walls, cause this is "America" whose history of human rights violations speaks for itself.

At least your lucky enough to be over there on the other side of the pond. Try to stop human rights violations over here, try to prevent assault's death and murder, and these Americans call it whinning. Oh well, it is what it is, and this is one sick, sadistic screwed up country.

The United States Constitution isn't worth the paper it's written on. Cause unless you have money to hire one of these money hungry attorneys, you have no way to enforce these so called guaranteed Constitutional Rights. yeah - the poor have the right to be screwed, just like they screwed the Native Americans and black man. Welcome to the reality of America.

Well my friend, I'm going to go over to one of the other comments. I may have a cup of coffee first. Hey - give me hell on the blog, speak your mind, but let's keep our letters fun and friendly. Okay? Bye for now, but not for long.

In Peace Love and Friendship.

Jonnie ☺