

3:13 PM

Friday
Nov. 30, 2012

Hi Schneehase

yep... me again. just had me a cup of coffee. Laundry just went by, so things are back to normal.

on what I wrote in my Daily Journal Oct 12, 2012 5:42 am, a lot of guys back here, innocent or guilty wouldn't agree with that. But that's how I feel. I hate sitting here with a gun pointed at my head constantly reminded that they intend to pull the trigger and kill me. I just want to scream "PULL THE DAMN TRIGGER!!" you get tired of the threats. I've sat here two decades with a gun to my head being threatened, this is bs. it's cruel as hell!" It messes with your mind, this damn cage, ... waking up every morning staring down the barrel of a gun. And they kill innocent people any ways. Go look at that 1989 case in Texas of that guy Carlos I think his name is. They killed, murdered the wrong Carlos. Here in Florida May 4, 1990, they murder Jesse Tafero. murdered the wrong man. so mistakes are going to happen, you have the death penalty your going to kill innocent people. But why torture the hell out of us for 20, 30 years, or even a year before they kill us. Nope, again it's just my opinion, get it over with. But I hate this cage. I wish someone would walk up right now, put a gun to the back of my head, and pull the trigger. Cause this is a rough way to exist. sad, but true. just my thoughts and the way I see it. some guys, well they enjoy T.V. and what life they have here. I use the T.V. to pass time before I go to sleep, and to keep up with current events. I'm just not big on T.V. Texas Death Row has Hotpots and Type writer's and a cheaper canteen, I'd trade with them in a heart beat. Cause I'd love to learn to type, and I'd be typing and cooking. 😊

In here, its all about passing time. waiting your turn to die. That's the reality of my existance.

Take care.

In Peace Love and Friendship.

Janie 😊