

Reply: jwfr

12.24.12

Hey Will again — After writing my reply a couple of days ago (Reply g4av, 12-21-12), I've been wondering who is the 13 yr. old boy on meds you mentioned. Also, as I will never be able to see it for myself, why don't you let me know some of the specifics in a letter to me directly. You don't need any return address on the envelope if you want to write directly about things too personal to post on this site for the world to see. Wm Goehler, #K-77832, Box 409020, (A1-213), Lone, CA. 95640. I will be discreet with whatever you write and never post comments in reply on this site. Just let me know: What is it exactly that you resent? Why are the kidz in institutions? Are you talking about Private Schools? What kind of kidz go there, that they'd prefer that place instead of living at home? What's so bad at home? Like I said... write any personal things to me directly so I will have an idea of what you've all been through, okay?

Now I'm attaching three pages of notes I took on a book we're working through in a self-help group in here. Everything except the I AM comments are verbatim from the book. Pretty interesting, eh? This of course prompts me to write your mom on a separate page. I hope you can convince her to read.

Oh yea, how in the world are you saving for a Harley, when you have a 1 yr. old to spoil? I hope you're not risking yer freedom or anything out there. I wonder if you've ever owned other motorcycles, and how long you've been riding?

You probably seen that Yashua wrote me recently and I replied right away. Keep on him to keep writing, will ya? Hopefully you can get Destiny to lift my spirits with a letter soon too. I really cherish hearing from you all.

Be blessed.

Attached:

3 pp. - Mouses of Healing notes
Letter to Deb