

cedewey

Thank you for your help in getting my blog on the blogsite. It matters to me anytime i can possibly reach or talk about my sons. I just hope one day my sons can see my blog and read it themselves. All my sons i feel the same way about. I have treid to be the best dad i can be for a knuckle head. I have made some major setbacks in my life. Along the way i some how found time to have some of the greatest kids ever. I still remember when i was the first to hold them after they where born an dhow happy i was then . Even now when i think of them i feel that same feeling. I donot think it ever changes. Most of my wisdom has came through hard times i haveve passed through. I just hope to be able to pass it along on e day to my sons. I just mainly like you said want them to know i am here for them all ways. That taereis nothing they can not ask me. I will be honest. They deserve that. I just want the best for them and iknow they are doing good. They are my boys...

One of the best things i can do fo rthem is keep myself moving forward without thinking of negative things. They need me and one day when they show up i wanto have the love only a father can give them whether we are all grown or not. I strive to dothe best i can for them. I writ ethem allthe time. i dont know if they getthe letters but thatis not my part. I dont need unnessecary mental problems . I got there address and i writ eto it. I dono tnear back but i dont think that is on them. iknow that today i have the strengna to write anyway. The letters never come back so someoneis gettin g them. Smile. I am sure that it is hard being the parent outhere. I am divorced from my wife going on 14 years or 15. Mykids where all babies then. I just got locked up this time in 2008. So iknow that thistime i did a major crime. So it had to be hard for them once they heard wha ti did and no telling what allthey heard as i was onthe run from the law. I dont know if they knew but i am sure they did. I had them allthe summerof 2008. We nad somuch fun and i did all kindsof stuff with them. I guessnow my x whoi sremarrie feels it may be best if i dont write on or nothing. Of course she has never said thi s i just getit from i never get answers to my mail. I have to understand that to if she feels that way I do not have to lik e it. I can accept it as partof my consequences. Ijust hope whenthey getolder they remember old dad. Maybe they willsee the blog and see i have not forgot aboutthem Of course i wil keep writing them also. What can i t hurt. Anyway i am gald you saw some thing in wha ti wrote. Thereis not a day goes by i dont think of them . I miss them and love them very much. I regret pling that trigger more and mmore. That is alin the past as i nae left that to past. I will continue to learn and try to be a better man and a dad. thanks again fo rthe time. sincerely guy