

RA-King Speaks: "Paradox of Love"

The paradox of love, its too much but never enough,
It hurts so bad, but I can't help but to touch,
It bullies the other emotions, mutilating the soul,
Everyone is after it, but what's the point or goal,
Lonely days, Hopeless nights, who was wrong, who was right,
Looking for joy and happiness but love is pain in a slight,
For pain only allows you to feel hurt,
And hurt strangles any and all other emotional birth,
So the equivalent of being in love is torture and torment,
Like swimming against a raging uphill current with legs of cement,
People want to fall hopelessly in it instead of standing on it,
A suicidal way of thinking you ask my opinion on it,
It will make you weak if you let it or strong if you use it,
And it can feel like hate if you misuse or abuse it,
For its not to be played with a double edge sword,
Live for it, Die by it, or keep your being devoid.