

Hey John

I appreciate your kind words and for sticking up for me, but some people need someone to hate and put down in order to make themselves feel better. That's human beings at our worse, and instead of trying to focus their energy on something more creative and positive, they would rather cast stones at others who have made mistakes and led screwed up lives. That's unfortunate, but that's the way it is. We humans at times can be worse than a pack of wild dogs. We've seen it time and time again, where people get on the internet behind these pseudonyms hiding and bullying others, we've seen them push teenagers into suicide, getting on there humiliating and belittling others. Why? Because they can, and they enjoy not only seeing others suffer, but they enjoy inflicting pain and suffering. That's because they are suffering usually, and so to see others suffer worse pain and humiliation makes them feel better about themselves. It's sick, it's twisted, but it is what it is.

I just hope that you're taking care of yourself. Keep your head up, stay focused on the goals that you need to accomplish to keep your life on track. Please take care of yourself, stay strong and stay out of trouble.

In Peace, Love & Friendship.

Connie
