

Seeking Mentors part 2

I just put up a "seeking mentors" piece not to long ago but it came out faded so I wanna repost the ad with darker print. Mentors is an import part of my transition to the free world so I feel the need to put this piece out in clarity. If you can be a mentor to me or know someone who can, please read this piece or share it with others:

Although I feel I've come a long way, I know where I work, hang out, and who I associate with will weigh heavily on my re-entry back into society.

I desire to meet:

- *Employers willing to give me a chance to work.
- *Friends with supportive and positive advice.
- *Connections to community resources.
- *Support in aquiring residence, transportation clothing etc.
- *Assistance in enrolling in college and school supplies.

I would ginuinely like mentors for advice and encouragement on my path to success in the free world. The hardest thing for me to do is ask for help but i'm embracing and ^{all} help this time around because I've learned that no one can make it in life on their own.

Thanks for taking the time to read this post and I appreciate all your thoughts, advice, support, and prayers.
