

Dancing Tonight

Its Saturday and Im listening to Denver's 98.9 Magic FM. They are playing a Dance mix of hip hop and Pop Top 40. And today for the first time in a long time I feel like dancing. So I dance. I laugh. I smile. I let loose and have fun imagining I am in a club rather than a prison cell. Silliness becomes fun. Across from my cell an inmate in the law library watches me dance. He smiles a smile of amusement. Here I am in "Guantanamo of the Rockies" dancing carefree. Like tomorrow will be a better day. And Ive got a good memory so I cant dance everything from Saturday Night Fever to the Dugee 😊. I have alot of enemies. The internet is full of trash about me. The Courts loathe me and cops despise me. The media mocks me. Politicians ignore me. The World barely notices me, but tonight I shall dance 😊. Rhianna's "S&M" = Awesome. Download it.
