Is This Real?

I've been on Lock-down for 22 years now and you hear and see some of the same stuff everyday but by some different faces.

I thought I would be around Killings etc. everyday but no. It's mostly a bunch of guys playing their time away or dumbing down 24-7.

The other day my cell-mate was telling an officer he was ready to go to work even tho he had no job.

Then another inmate was yelling to me someone blew the power off but he himself turned the radio off.

How about this. During a mail-call this cat was just standing there while the officer called his name about 30 times when finally I said to him you have some mail. to which he stated why didn't somebody say something? oh well.

Incarceration can cause a lot of minds to deteriorate if you're not a strong soul but how can I learn from my Mistaken if i so insane trying to be?

Prison is not ^{what} i was looking for but i Feel better that it not the only one here. Listen to this. I was scheduled to see the doctor about my heart problems. So i went to the same place 12 months straight same prison staff
so i finally said i had a wauah when the doctor wanted to look at my feet which i said in here because of my heart. So the doctor says my bad why didn't you say something?

I see stuff everyday thinking to myself is this real?
