

#117

A Cry into the Abyss

by Nate A. Lindell

"How deep does this go?"

I call out

But can't hear an echo

I sense my voice was absorbed like a drop of water in a plate of pea soup

A thousand feet wide

"Life is killing me!"

"Do you hear?"

I shout; my despair

Tears me apart like a pack of starved wolves.

I want to wash my soul in tears

But can't get one to let go

Which only makes me want to cry more

I stare deep into its

nothing

with even less behind

wondering if I want to land