

Reply ZD: jhuq

Almuccia,

I agree with you fully. And it matters not your age, social status, or background because being "CONSCIOUSLY AWARE" of what's right and what is wrong in this world, just takes being honest with yourself.

Some individuals consider it a curse to have a social conscience that inevitably attacks their tranquility - i.e. attacks the tranquility they have by ignoring the realities of life.