

Prison Drunk

by Jeremy Pinson

On the streets there is Smirnoff. In prison there is a fermented drink called Aruno. I haven't a clue its alcohol content but it will get you drunk. Today for the first time in 4 years I got drunk. Its against the rules obviously but sometimes you want to live and have some fun. Plus I am locked in a cell no danger to anyone so who cares if I imbibe in Alcohol to celebrate early my 27th birthday which is coming up on February 6th.

When I got drunk I thought of SAH and just had to write about how much fun I had today. I can imagine SAH reading this post, frothing at the mouth with righteous indignation. Prison mandates getting drunk! Having fun! The nerve of us convicted felons enjoying life's small pleasures. Hey SAH want me to look up your local congressman so you can shoot them an angry letter? Be sure to spell my name right.

1/27/13

Jeremy Pinson