

humbled and thankful.

"The Arms of Compassion"

In the midst of unbridled emotions lies civil unrest, and confusion. Building within oneself endless grief, based upon irrational delusion. Trying to sail through these turbulent emotions is like trying to wade through angry waters barefoot atop sharp and un-caring coral reefs.

The pathway unto the Divine's throne lies in the arms of compassion, and in the heart of forgiveness lie the keys to the mansion.

Death and destruction lies in the arms of anger's passion; dread and despair at the feet of depression; and the sure escape from these demons rest in the arms of compassion.

The gates of heaven stand before the feet of love, ever open and welcoming. While the apex of hell waits in the heart of a volcano of emotions - unstable and all consuming. (1/13/2013)