

A CRY FOR HELP

Hello, I would like to bring up a very serious topic. Why are the young girls and boys who have come out as openly gay killing themselves? Why does it seem like no one is doing anything to stop these senseless deaths? Why is it okay for the churches of this country to openly encourage bullying towards these young people? Well I will tell you why, believe it or not the gay community is at war with the christian part of society and instead of attacking the adults they go after the young, because the young are dependant on and crave acceptance. They also go after these vulnerable teens because gay adults have to be very careful when trying to help these or we will be accused of pressuring them to be gay or "turning them out". So it comes down to turning our back on the ones who need us most or facing accusations of coercion or even worse, sexual abuse. However even though it will cause us problems we have to help these young men and women or we face something much worse than the ban on gay marriage, which was caused due to extreme pressure from the churches. We must stand up for these young people, they have the right to happy and fulfilling lives as anyone else does. Take care of yourselves and each other. Love and peace ♡ Danny.
