

BY: JACK M. BRANCH #R17203

2/6/13

"The Tomb Of My Heart"

You told the truth, when you said you were the one for me.
All i can feel now though is a flicker of your Ghost,
How could i have been so very blind?
Why couldn't i just see?
Now i'm hollow again, your touch is what i miss most.
I miss it so much, holding you in my arms even the simplest embrace.
The way we were the only healing, need'ed to sooth each other's wound's.
In the end, you're also all the dark secrets, that i could never face.
- Why I ask out loud, Must ~~feel~~ i feel this way? I feel like a Tomb.
So dark, cold, so very evil, one might even say it's haunted.
It's not your fault, you're really not the one to blame.
You were so perfect for me, But still i thought, I was unwanted.
I was always convinced that loving and lying, were one and the same.
All you ever did was help me try to get back right.
All i ever did, was look for anyway to cause you pain.
Whether or not i deserve it, I want an end to all my fight.
Is there hope for me? For you alone i went fully insane.

BY: Jack Branch #R17203
Florida State Prison
7819 N.W. 228th St.
Raiford, Florida. 32026