

Irish Soup

Poems - Art Work - Short Stories - Notes - Rambling.

Sitting here in this cell during these dark hours of the night a lonesome moon shine bright through my window casting our shadows behind me. (♡)

Baby sister - friends come and friend go but family lasts forever. Congradulation on your new marriage. Hope you can get home soon, love you sis.

There's an old African proverb: "When death finds you, may it find you alive." singing oldies at the top of your voice. I love you brother.

Everything I am and everyone I know will pass someday. I know this yet I still have strong attachments within my heart.

Aunt Alice; I've been getting your letters it warms me to hear from you to know that you are starting to get around better once again. Love you

I have spent a lot of time with loneliness, feeling desperate to escape it, unable to move, always looking for distractions. I felt as if I were falling from the sky, as if one more breath would kill me.

Being in your heart fills my lungs with air.

#63: The fool who knows he is a fool is at least a little wise; the fool who thinks that he is wise is surely a fool.

I spend my time here alone, away from the noises and trouble of other souls. My alone time passes quickly as I lose myself in thoughts daydream.

If you had to pick the one thing/person that always makes you smile, what/who is it?

"Animals are such agreeable friends; - they give no criticisms" - George Eliot.

You are the only one with whom I dare to be myself. My single happiness in this life is the conviction that I am loved by you.

Don't nailin, no one to no cross no more but they still want to see a few.