

For Love

You must pay the price. You have to make the sacrifice...
You have to compromise or you get no prize...

You will go the distance or surrender to the resistance...
You must share tears and give up your fears...

You have to make a way, be faithful and pray...
You will experience the sunshine and the rain...
feel the pleasures and the pain...

You must show what's in your heart and continue to do your part...
You have to communicate and converse, compensate and participate...

You will laugh and you will cry; lie and go bye-bye...
You must grow, or go; be strong and defeat every foe...

You have to listen, in the bedroom, or the kitchen.
You will fuss and you will fight; sometimes be wrong and never always right...

You must comfort and share; be vigilant and aware.
You have to understand and give your all; be patient and catch 'em if they fall...

For Love...
You will...
You Must...
You have to endure...
For love...