

Love of my Life

I don't have to think twice to know that you are the love of my life.

It's plain to see that you still thrill me and make life worth living.

And I'm going to keep giving the best of me to you to make it plain to you that you are the love of my life.

So you shouldn't have to think twice about making me the love of your life.

You should plainly see that I will thrill you and make life worth living.

Please keep on giving the best of you to me to keep it plain to see that I am the love of your life.

Nothing I have ever felt or experienced even comes close to comparing.

I look, and I look; sometimes you catch me staring.

Wondering how I could be so lucky, so happy, so grateful to have you near.

Hoping and praying to keep you here in my life forever to revere.
